

Collaboration with other agencies included a trip to Disneyland with the Alameda Girls' Club. For the second year, Alameda Girls' Club co-sponsored with Alameda Kiwanis Club and the Alameda Unified School District, a hearing impaired summer program at Camp Cedarbrook.

1984

Every sport and these members of the Alameda Girls' Club, who plan to sign up for a new program for the winter season, directed by Cyrene Marsh-Pedersen. The girls are at Park, Astoria, Berkeley, Milvia, Larkspur and Alameda Signatures for all ages or tomorrow from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. (Times-Star)

With the opening of the new Cowan Recreation Center, sports equipment from the Bay Area Sports Hall of Fame, and technical assistance from the Women's Sports Foundation, we have attracted and retained the older girl and added variety to rec sports and physical fitness programs.

1986

"Children get a glamorized version of professional life from television and advertising, so we try to balance that by giving them an opportunity to speak to successful women firsthand. Hopefully, they get the idea that success is earned through hard work and by staying in school."

The Junior Leader program focused on girls eleven years and older who gave a variety of levels in there community. Junior Leaders were acknowledged monthly and annually.

1989

1991

Sally Wood, grand-daughter of Sara Traude, won a raffle to represent the Alameda Girls' Club in carrying the Olympic torch en route to the Olympic games in Los Angeles. Besides Wood, Kanako Makakagawa of Japan and a guest of David and Joyce Denyven's carried the Olympic flame.

1984

The first class of "Sports Unlimited" is offered to 9-14 year old girls. The organization was active in the City Park and Rec Department track and field event and City Park softball league.

1986

The National organization began to develop innovative programs on a large, national scale that were unlike anything anyone else was doing. They invested ten million dollars to pioneer a process that involved affiliates in planning, piloting, evaluating, and implementing groundbreaking new programs.

1988

Alameda Girls Club participates in the National offering Going Places which was a comprehensive guide to programming that assists girls in learning new information, acquiring and developing skills, building self-esteem, and, in doing so, to have fun. Going Places programs included Operation Smart, Sporting Chance, and Choices. In Sporting Chance girls participated in traditional and nontraditional sports.

1988

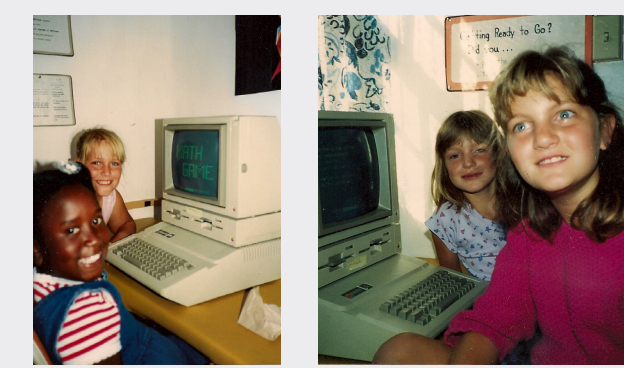

Dedicated and ongoing community volunteers gave us the "fuel" we needed to empower more than 14,000 paid members since 1964 to build bright futures.

1989

1989

Girls gained the skills they needed through high-tech computer literacy classes

1984

1986

Rebeca Walker one of the voices of the "Third Wave" of the Women's Movement. The third wave opposed stereotypical images of women and worked towards gender, racial, economic, and social justice.

1992

The Year of the Woman" in politics. Four new women were elected to the Senate, and 18 to the House, and record numbers of women voted."

1992

Joyce Denyven retired and Romy Amos becomes the 6th Executive Director.

1993

1984-1993

Inspiring girls for 50 years to create bold futures.

Girls Incorporated® of the Island City

